

Sommaire / Contents

Introduction
Albert Hamm & Lyndon Higgs .....	5
Some implications of thematic structure in the scientific journal article, 1700-1980
David Banks .....	9
Is Dublin English losing its specificity? A study of the have-en aspect in Ballyfermot English
Anne-Sophie Ritter .....	25
Personal pronouns in Keats's Ode to a nightingale
Stéphane Kostantzer .....	43
Aspects of the 'fait divers' as a journalistic genre
Albert Hamm .....	57
Quotations and their co(n)texts:
Corpus-based insights into discoursing with Hamlet
Sixta Quassdorf & Regula Hohl Trillini .....	75
Topic negotiation in intercultural discourse: a case study on a series of three interviews between a Himba oral historian and a German ethnographer
Anna Voegeli .....	91
A critical discourse analysis of Swiss tourist slogans and logos
Katja Sommerhalder .....	107
Extracting collocations in context: the case of verb-noun constructions in English and Romanian
Amalia Todirascu & Christopher Gledhill .....	127
Metaphors we live by or conceive by?
A cross-linguistic case study on boredom and Langeweile
Nicole Weber .....	143
Discourse styles in spoken British English: a corpus-based study
Nicole Höhn .....	161
Semantic and discourse factors in complement choice after begin and start
Tünde Nagy .....	187
Abstracts .....	197